We have enjoyed a really exciting summer at The Lightbox with 'Escape to Wonderland' proving to be one of the best exhibitions yet - appealing to all ages. The sight of small girls trying on the 'Angelina Ballerina' tutu and whirling round the gallery, and whole families sitting on the floor enjoying the games in the story bags, really epitomises what The Lightbox is all about - fun for everyone, and learning in an informal and interactive way. There is still time to visit the exhibition, as it runs until the New Year. Plus we have a great programme of events to accompany the exhibition, listed in full in the programme. Many of the events sold out over the summer so make sure you book your tickets early so you don't miss out. One that I will be looking out for particularly is Jane Ray's workshop. Her illustration in the exhibition is wonderful and I am sure her workshop will be inspirational.

We always celebrate Christmas in style at The Lightbox, and once again our shop will be stocked full of really unusual presents. We look forward to hosting our ever-popular Craft Fair in November, and Father Christmas will be making his annual visit in December this year.

In January The Lightbox goes to London - we are very excited about a new exhibition we will be staging at Sotheby's in New Bond Street. With the generous support of the international auction house and Chris Ingram we will be taking treasures from The Ingram Collection to their wonderful exhibition galleries. We hope that all our supporters will make the journey to London to view the show and to attend a special fundraising event we are holding there on 19 January. There will also be an 'in conversation' event at Sotheby's on 18 January. Please watch our website for further details.

We are ever mindful of keeping down costs and protecting the environment so we would be grateful if those of you who are willing to receive this programme by e-mail, could sign up for an electronic copy. Just let us know by e-mailing info@thelightbox.org.uk.

Finally, as ever, a really huge thank you to all our supporters who do so much for us. Our volunteers have kept us running smoothly through a busy summer. If you have any spare time and would like to spend it in beautiful surroundings with friendly people, we are particularly keen to welcome weekend volunteers for front of house duties. Also our Friends, who have a great programme of talks and events planned through the autumn and winter, are always keen to welcome new supporters who can help to promote our work while enjoying interesting social events.

We hope to see you many times through the autumn and winter - The Lightbox is a great place to brighten up those dark days so don't forget to drop in.

The Ingram Collection: Contemporary Art featuring Suki Chan & Haroon Mirza

This exhibition showcases contemporary video and installation artworks from The Ingram Collection for the first time. Chris Ingram has recently expanded the collection in new and interesting ways by beginning to support emerging contemporary artists. The Lightbox is proud to present these new works that push the boundaries of sculpture, new media and installation art.

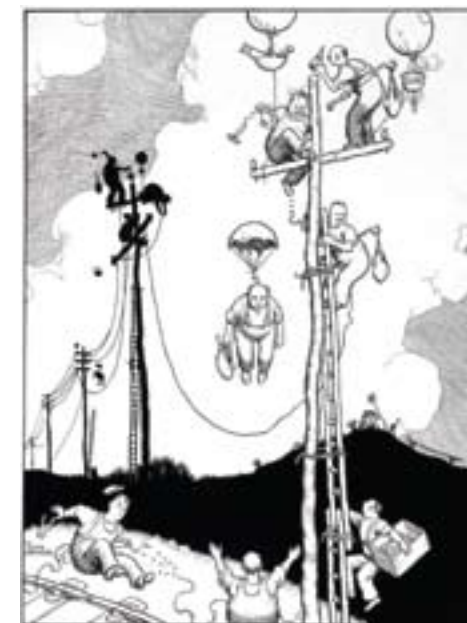

Children under the age of 12 must be supervised by an adult at all times, due to the nature of the exhibits.

The Art of William Heath Robinson

Featuring over 50 original illustrations and humorous drawings by 'The Gadget King', William Heath Robinson, this show will include his graphic inventions as well as lesser-known book illustrations for Shakespeare, Kipling and Hans Christian Andersen. Pictures from Heath Robinson's own books including 'The Adventures of Uncle Lubin' and 'Bill the Minder' will also be on display. The works are on loan from The William Heath Robinson Trust.

Free Entry (donations welcome)

From 6 November 2010

Exchanging Luminance

Exchanging Luminance, by Richard Jackson is a sculpture that will be placed in the courtyard of The Lightbox, it combines glass, stainless steel and LED lighting. The form of the sculpture is inspired by the essence of the building itself and the imagery in the glass reflects the collections at The Lightbox, a focus for art, craft and contemporary design.
